FOREWORD BY THE MINISTER OF TOURISM

Minister of Tourism
Marthinus van Schalkwyk, MP

This strategic plan is the result of the first review of our departmental priorities since the establishment of the standalone National Department of Tourism (NDT) following the 2009 general elections. The dedicated NDT was instituted in order to expand tourism's contribution to economic growth and job creation.

The NDT's core mandate is to facilitate conditions conducive to sustainable tourism growth and development for South Africa. In delivering on this mandate, tourism is regulated by the Tourism Act (Act 72 of 1993), as amended, and the White Paper on the Development and Promotion of Tourism in South Africa (the Tourism White Paper of 1996). The Act provides for the promotion of tourism to and within South Africa, and for the further rationalisation of the tourism industry, while the White Paper provides a framework and guidelines to achieve this. The legislation envisions the sustainable and acceptable development of the tourism sector as a national priority, enabling the sector to contribute significantly to the improvement of all South Africans' quality of life.

Tourism as a labour-intensive industry has significant potential and capacity to grow the economy and to create jobs. Tourism is therefore central to delivery on the government's mandate of creating decent work, sustainable livelihoods and rural development, which is recognised in, among others, the Industrial Policy Action Plan (IPAP); the New Growth Path; Government's Outcome 4, "Decent Employment through Inclusive Economic Growth" as well as Outcome 7, "Vibrant, equitable and sustainable rural communities and food security for all". For that reason, the NDT's efforts will be geared towards creating a conducive environment for the tourism sector to grow its direct contribution to the country's gross domestic product (GDP) from R71,4 billion in 2009 to R118 billion in 2015, and to increase the number of jobs directly supported by the sector from 389 100 in 2009 (as per the World Travel and Tourism Council estimates) to 403 900 in 2015. Our international marketing efforts will concentrate on high-yield markets, and we aim to increase total direct tourism spend from R100,1 billion in the 2008 calendar year to R169 billion in the 2015 calendar year.

With the exceptionally successful hosting of the 2010 FIFA World Cup, the tourism sector in South Africa is set to enter a new growth phase. The World Cup offered South Africa an unprecedented window of opportunity to build its brand as a nation. The industry must therefore leverage the platform that the event has created to reinforce the tourism brand and its competitive positioning. The NDT will continue to engage the entire tourism sector to ensure that we all do our part to help translate the gains made possible by the World Cup into more visitors, increased spend, stronger economic growth, improved skills and decent jobs over the medium to long term.

From the World Cup experience we have learned that, going forward, it will be particularly critical for the country not only to focus on convention and major-events tourism, but to enhance our capacity to bid for such events. In this regard, South Africa will establish a National Conventions Bureau, enabling the country to have a coordinated strategy on how best to promote, develop and take advantage of this growing market segment.

The latest tourist arrival figures are very promising. A total of 8 073 552 tourists visited South Africa in 2010 compared to 7 011 865 the previous year. Of these, 309 000 tourists arrived in South Africa for the primary purpose of the World Cup. Foreign tourist arrivals are expected to grow even further in the medium term. To maintain this growth in foreign arrivals, we will continue with our focused marketing, particularly in emerging markets.

However, for tourist arrivals to our country to continue growing, the sector must be able to provide quality, unique and diversified products and services. Therefore, the Department's interventions as far as product development is concerned will still take into account geographic spread, affordability within the industry, and entrenching a culture of travel among South Africans. Our focus will be on providing information and guidance to enable the development of relevant and unique tourism products. To deliver on this, the Department will draft a product development strategy for South Africa. Moreover, strategies for the development of niche tourism products are another important element of the comprehensive plan to position tourism as one of the six key sectors of economic growth in South Africa. Also, quality assurance and service excellence remain central to improving South Africa's competitiveness as a tourist destination of choice. The Department will continue with its work towards creating a national framework for tourism quality assurance, to ensure that there are common standards across the sector, including mechanisms for customer care.

Looking outward, as part of our contribution to building a better Africa and a better world, the Department will continue to participate in multilateral tourism forums, such as the United Nations World Tourism Organisation (UNWTO). We will further build on avenues of South-South cooperation, such as India-Brazil-South Africa (IBSA), and South-North cooperation, and will continue with the promotion of regional integration and the implementation of the tourism action plan of the New Partnership for Africa's Development (NEPAD). The NDT will also work to ensure that the South African tourism industry derives maximum benefit from the country's inclusion in the BRIC (Brazil, Russia, India and China) partnership.

To ensure the realisation of all the aforementioned and other priorities, the Department embarked on an inclusive and consultative process to develop a National Tourism Sector Strategy (NTSS), with specific deliverables for the medium to long term. This strategy has since been approved by Cabinet. Following this intensive process involving all tourism stakeholders, we now look forward to the implementation of the strategy.

The Department also embarked on a process to review tourism legislation. This process highlighted a number of critical areas to be addressed in order to achieve sustainable tourism growth and development. We foresee that the full review will be finalised in the 2011/2012 financial year.

Finally, to contribute to the realisation of the strategic goals and objectives outlined in this strategic plan, the NDT is making good progress with the filling of all funded vacant posts, while the Department's enhanced focus on performance monitoring and evaluation is evidenced by the establishment of a branch specifically focusing on policy, research, monitoring and evaluation in the tourism sector.

As the NDT, we are committed to contribute to the realisation of our goals as a nation, and we look forward to working with our colleagues in the public sector, the tourism industry and civil society in this regard.

MESSAGE BY THE DEPUTY MINISTER OF TOURISM

Deputy Minister of Tourism
Tokozile Xasa, MP

As the National Department of Tourism we enter this era of action, drawing our inspiration from what the President said during the 2011 state of the nation address. The National Department of Tourism is committed to forge ahead, determined to contribute to the achievement of our mission of building a better life for all.

Our President has declared 2011 a year of job creation through meaningful economic transformation and inclusive growth. Tourism has been identified as one of the six priority areas that can create jobs. The department of tourism has placed job creation high on the agenda of our department in the medium-term.

The department will work with all spheres of government to ensure the implementation and integration of tourism priorities at provincial and local level. To achieve this, the department will provide support to both provincial and local government on tourism planning and implementation. Our work will continue to focus on ensuring that tourism is rooted at local government level to promote ownership by local communities with a bias to rural communities.

One of the key challenges facing rural communities is lack of employment opportunities, low income levels and lack of skills required by the local economy. This can be attributed to amongst others the fact that other economic drivers are not exploited. As a result unemployment levels are very high, and many people migrate from rural areas. While agriculture is the key economic driver in rural areas, the potential of other sectors like tourism and the green economy should be exploited in order to ensure diversification, accelerate economic growth and increase employment opportunities. To contribute to the delivery of outcome 7: "Vibrant, equitable and sustainable rural communities and food security for all" we will build a dynamic tourism sector and ensure with other sectors such as agriculture, transport, public enterprises, mining and environmental services that targets for rural job creation, skills training and promoting economic livelihoods are achieved by 2014.

In recognising its potential, tourism has been identified in the New Growth Path as one of the six key sectors of economic growth in South Africa. Tourism is identified as one of the labour-intensive sectors and strategic areas of the economy with the potential to create jobs and stimulate economic growth. Sustainable increases in both domestic and foreign arrivals result in the continued creation of decent jobs in the sector. In line with what is reflected in the New Growth Path, tourism will contribute 225 000 new jobs by 2020. As part of our interventions to contribute to job creation and poverty eradication we will continue with the creating of jobs and contribute to improvement of people's livelihoods through the implementation of the tourism sector component of the Expanded Public Works Programme with specific focus to job creation and skills development of youth, women and people with disability.

One of the most important competitiveness factors in the tourism sector is the availability of skilled and capacitated workforce with conviction to service excellence. We will work in partnership with the private and public sector to ensure that the South Africa's tourism sector has the necessary capacity and gains recognition in service excellence.

The department will continue to promote industry transformation as well as the participation and growth of small medium and micro enterprises. The gazetting of the Tourism Sector Charter in May 2009, by the Minister of Trade and Industry, further provides us with the tools to promote transformation and compliance by the private sector. Acceleration of transformation of the tourism sector is at the centre of our programmes in the medium-term. Our objective is to ensure that the benefits of tourism are equitably shared amongst the people of South Africa. Specific initiatives are planned for empowerment of youth, women and people with disability through enterprise, entrepreneurship and people development. We will take deliberate actions to support implementation of Broad Based Black Economic Empowerment (BBBEE) as well as growing and starting new Small, Medium and Micro Enterprises (SMME) in the tourism sector. Working with other government institutions, we will continue to provide financial and non-financial support to SMMEs. We are committed to the government campaign to pay SMMEs on time, within 30 days to ensure their sustainability.

One of the distinct characters of this government is that it knows where the people are and understands and responds to their needs in an appropriate manner. In this regard the department will ensure that we are always in direct contact with the people. We will continue with our work to ensure that the people of South Africa are informed of the opportunities in the tourism sector through dedicated developmental communications initiatives including amongst others public education, awareness and community outreach with increased foot print in the rural areas. The department will continue to engage with the industry as well as other government departments and entities on how to address constraints to tourism growth and development in South Africa.

The department will infuse youth and women empowerment in all its programmes. We will work with relevant state organs like the National Youth Development Agency and the private sector to mainstream youth and women empowerment in the tourism sector with specific focus to the promotion of women and youth enterprises and cooperatives.

INTRODUCTION AND STRATEGIC OVERVIEW BY THE DIRECTOR-GENERAL

Director-General
Ambassador, LM Makhubela

This Strategic Plan maps out the service delivery commitments of the National Department of Tourism and its mandate is to create conditions for sustainable tourism growth and development for South Africa.

It specifies how the Department will contribute to the realisation of Government's vision. The Government's 2014 vision of halving poverty and halving unemployment by creating 500 000 new jobs, National Tourism Sector Strategy (NTSS), White Paper on the Development and Promotion of Tourism in South Africa informs the development of this Strategic Plan. This strategic plan outlines the vision, mission, values and programmes of the National Department of Tourism. The Department comprises of four programmes, Programme 1: Administration - and the purpose is to provide strategic leadership, centralised administration, executive support and corporate services. Programme 2: Tourism Development - and it facilitates and supports the development of and equitable tourism sector. Programme 3: Tourism Growth - and it promotes growth, competitiveness and quality of the tourism sector. Programme 4: Policy, Research, Monitoring and Evaluation - it provides sector policy development, research, planning, monitoring and evaluation.

During the state of nation address the President has said "All government departments will align their programmes with the job creation imperative". In line with this call the department has committed itself to enable the tourism sector to make a considerable contribution to boost the country's economic growth by identifying key priorities that includes the following: Increasing investment in the tourism sector, promoting decent work, addressing people development, leading the world in environmentally sustainable and responsible tourism, increasing the number of foreign tourists to the country, effective cooperative partnerships, dramatically improving service levels, quality, innovative, unique and authentic products which meet market needs, providing value for money and inspiring more South Africans to enjoy the tourism experiences of our country.

To achieve tourism targets in the New Growth Path the National Department of Tourism will create conditions for responsible tourism growth and development. The focus will be on facilitating the growth of the tourism industry by providing support to the public and private sectors, and the broader community. The department aims to increase inbound tourism, deliver a world-class visitor experience, entrench a culture of tourism among South Africans and increase the sector's contribution to job creation and the country's GDP, entrepreneurial opportunities and encourages the meaningful participation of previously disadvantaged communities and individuals over the medium term, the department will also focus on ensuring the geographic spread of tourism to include rural areas and involve rural communities. Here, the department will also promote informed investment in the development of rural tourism products that respond to market needs. The department has also identified the development of niche products such as cultural heritage tourism as a priority. Instead of only considering the national and provincial distribution of tourists, the department emphasise intra-provincial distribution, which would include small towns and rural areas.

The department will support development of tourism products in rural and less visited provinces. Focus will also be placed on the implementation of interventions to facilitate, guide and support tourism product development. To increase competitiveness of the tourism sector in South Africa the department will develop and implement niche tourism strategies including Cultural and Heritage Tourism.

The National Department of Tourism is committed to contribute to the realisation of three outcomes. Outcome 4: Decent employment through inclusive economic growth. Outcome 7: Vibrant, equitable, sustainable rural communities contributing towards food security for all (Job creation, enterprise and skills development). Outcome 11: Create a better South Africa, a better Africa and a better world through regional integration, tourist arrivals and tourist spend.

This Strategic Plan upon publication will serve as the foundation for NDT reporting to the Presidency on the implementation of the change agenda (outcomes) and the sustained agenda (departmental programmes). The new strategic plan framework from the National Treasury assists in presenting premeditated based planning that is aligned to the budget. The Plan is organised around strategic goals, strategic objectives supporting the Department's Vision of, "to be globally celebrated as a leader in tourism excellence" and Mission "collectively and boldly promoting responsible and sustainable tourism for the benefit of all South Africans".

5. Situational Analysis

A dedicated Department of Tourism was created after the general elections in May 2009, to provide for undivided attention to enable the tourism sector to make a considerable contribution to boost the country's economic growth. The core mandate of the Department of Tourism is to create conditions for sustainable tourism growth and development for South Africa. Tourism Act, 1993 (Act No 72 of 1993) as amended, makes provision for the promotion of tourism to and within South Africa, and for further rationalisation of the tourism industry. The White Paper on the Development and Promotion of Tourism in South Africa (Tourism White Paper of 1996) provides a framework and guidelines for the development and promotion of tourism in South Africa with the vision to develop the tourism sector as a national priority in a sustainable and acceptable manner, so that it can contribute significantly to the improvement of the quality of life of every South African.

Tourism as a labour intensive industry has a potential and capacity to grow the economy and to create jobs. This puts tourism as an important sector in the delivery of the government mandate on creation of decent work, sustainable livelihood and rural development. Industrial Policy Action Plan (IPAP) identifies Tourism as an important driver of both domestic consumer spending and foreign exchange earnings, underpinned by a sustainable resource base, labour intensive activities and relatively low barriers to entry for entrepreneurs. The department's efforts will be geared towards creating a conducive environment for the tourism sector to increase its direct contribution to GDP and increase the number of jobs supported directly by the sector.

The success of the 2010 FIFA World Cup has created immense goodwill and positive brand reputation for South Africa, leading to a more receptive world. To accurately measure the success of our marketing initiatives, the department intends in future to use tourist arrival figures as opposed to measuring foreign arrivals. Once a trend has been established on tourist arrivals, the department can use that historical information to better set predictive targets for tourist arrivals. The tourism sector's drive to increase arrivals and create jobs will occur in an environment where many of our markets are still recovering from the effects of the recent economic downturn.

Strategies for the development of niche tourism products, such as cruise tourism, are important elements of the comprehensive plan to position tourism as one of the six key sectors of economic growth in South Africa. Minister of Tourism launched a report on cruise tourism in South Africa during November 2010. The report indicated that the development of cruise tourism as a niche market would enhance South Africa's reputation as a world class and globally competitive tourism destination.

Tourism has been identified in the outcome approach to service delivery as one of the sectors in which growth and employment opportunities could be leveraged. It is expected to contribute to the realisation of Outcome 4: "Decent Employment through Inclusive Economic Growth" and Outcome 7: "Vibrant, equitable and sustainable rural communities and food security for all". This provides an opportunity for better coordination with all our delivery partners for a concerted effort towards achievement of the tourism objectives. The National Tourism Sector Strategy (NTSS) recently approved by Cabinet is a commitment by all role players which will amongst other things focus on growing the tourism sector's absolute contribution to gross domestic product (GDP), achieving transformation within the tourism sector, provision of excellent people development and decent work within the tourism sector, entrenching a culture of travel amongst South Africans, delivering a world class visitor experience and addressing the issue of geographic, seasonal and rural spread.

5.1 Performance Environment

Tourism being everybody's business relies on various role players to deliver quality experiences to tourists. This raises a need for proper coordination within government and with all other role players in the Private Sector. The National Tourism Sector Strategy and Government's Outcomes Based approach begin to address this need by identifying key role players and assigning responsibilities for the achievement of agreed outcomes.

In South Africa, many South Africans did not have an opportunity to undertake holiday travel within their own country because of the apartheid history. This resulted in the lack of a travel culture amongst most South Africans, mainly Black South Africans. The domestic market should form the backbone of the tourism industry. Concerted effort must be made to realise the opportunity provided by this vast market.

Background information and demand for services: The tourism sector has made some progress in increasing its competitiveness globally. The brand awareness has increased over the past few years especially in our core markets. However, there is still room to further improve South Africa's competitiveness as a tourist destination of choice against our key competitors. The 2010 Global Competitiveness Study makes recommendations on what to pursue to enhance access to key markets, improve performance and capacity of key industry sub-sectors and improve travelers' satisfaction by delivering quality experiences.

5.2 Organisational Structure

The development of human resources (HR) strategy in the National Department of Tourism is part of government's attempt to empower and develop human capital in line with our country's development agenda. These strides by the department are consistent with the Human Resources Development - South Africa (HRD-SA) intervention's for promoting the country's development agenda that adopted by the Cabinet, was launched in 2001. HR Strategy covered the planning period under review and has been adapted to respond to changing factors during its implementation. The department's human resources strategy derives from its objective of addressing HR challenges and creating people advantage. The HR strategy sets out the National Department of Tourism plans to ensure the recruitment, development and retention of the best quality staff in all staff groups, in order to fulfill the Department's mission and thereby meet its strategic objectives and goals. Our Human Resource Strategy (HR Strategy) aims to strengthen the department's strategic plan (2011/12 to 2015/16) and show how the different activities associated with managing people can enable the department's strategic plan to be delivered more effectively. The department has appointed human resources that are capable to contribute to the business strategy, to lead and facilitate change, provide better quality service and stakeholder satisfaction in a rapidly changing environment through a sourcing plan, performance strategy, development strategy and affiliation strategy (retention, compensation, balance work-life, motivation, etc).

ORGANISATIONAL RESOURCE CONSIDERATION

Expenditure Trends

Expenditure decreased from R428.1 million in 2007/08 to R331.6 million in 2010/11, at an average annual rate of -8.2 percent. This was due to a decrease in funding to tourism infrastructure projects implemented in the Expanded Public Works Programme. Over the MTEF period, expenditure is expected to decrease from R370.6 million in 2011/12 to R368.6 million in 2013/14, at an average annual rate of -0.2 per cent. The decrease is mainly due to a reduced budget for the project implementation of Expanded Public Works Programme with an allocation over the MTEF of R283 435 million, R237 357 million and R250 412 million.

Trends in the number of key staff

The definition of key staff may vary, but is usually linked to critical or scarce skills. As a newly established Department, ensuring adequate leadership capacity in order to implement the strategic objectives and established milestones as scheduled, the filling of vacancies at management level was prioritised. For the purpose of this report, key staff will refer to staff at salary levels 13 and above. At present 51 management positions are filled, whilst the remaining 9 vacancies are at various phases of the recruitment process. Of the filled positions, 41 incumbents are members of the designated groups, which include 1 incumbent with a disability. The EE-target of 85% of blacks at management level has not yet been reached by 7%, but the forthcoming recruitments at this level lend an opportunity to move toward the target. As for the EE-target of 50% of females at management level, the target has been exceeded by 3%. In terms of staffing in general it is worth noting that at the time of the split, the newly established Department started with a vacancy rate of 30%. The current vacancy rate is at 21%, with a continued focus to reduce the vacancy rate to an acceptable level. Taking into consideration that the establishment has not yet stabilised and growth is expected following structural adjustments, as well as the trend to fill approximately 50% of advertised vacancies by internal promotions, it is projected that by 2015 the vacancy rate will be at 10%.
