PURPOSE OF THE QUALIFICATION

The primary purpose of the qualification is to provide learners with:

> A foundation of heritage practice skills and knowledge, which can be used to build further heritage management related competencies

> Competencies to be effective heritage workers on either the formal or informal heritage management levels

> Competencies to preserve and promote the heritage wealth of South Africa

> Accreditation of experience already achieved within the sector

The working environment includes both working within formalised heritage institutions/organisations (museums, art galleries, archives, national parks, heritage development agencies, governance), or within informal heritage projects/initiatives based at community levels (cultural tourism projects, community centres, NGO's, CBO's).

Rationale

The underlying rationale to this qualification is to ensure that heritage resources within South Africa are properly conserved and promoted through a comprehensive understanding of the principles of heritage practice, both within the framework of formal institutions involved in heritage management, as well as across the informal framework of heritage development based at community level.

This qualification therefore reflects the needs of the heritage management sector, both now and in the future, for a skills pool able to make a meaningful contribution to the transformation and development of South Africa's heritage management sector.

The qualification on this level focuses on the areas of Heritage Practice as the foundational competency for the heritage management sector and is intended for learners who already work within the heritage management sector, as well as those learners wishing to enter the field within both the formal and informal heritage work based contexts.

Through this qualification, learners already engaged in the sector will be able to develop further competencies to assist the strengthening of their foundational heritage practice knowledge and skills within the workplace, or, through assessment, be able to be accredited for their knowledge and skills already acquired through their experience within the work place.

Learners wishing to enter the sector will achieve competencies geared towards a holistic understanding of the facets of the heritage management sector through the principles of heritage practice. This will provide them with the knowledge and skills to enable a meaningful engagement in the heritage management sector within either a formal or informal work place framework.

RECOGNIZE PREVIOUS LEARNING?

LEARNING ASSUMED TO BE IN PLACE

It is assumed that learners embarking on learning towards this qualification are already competent in the areas of communication and mathematics at the NQF level 3.

Recognition of prior learning (RPL)

Where not encompassed by the framework of a traditional museum, historically Heritage Management has been an associated 'accidental' profession. A large number of practitioners have experience, but minimal formal underpinning knowledge. It is therefore essential to recognise prior learning and the application in the work place, be it formal or informal.

The nature of heritage practice means that competence is developed experientially; therefore the assessment processes will recognise experience versus theoretical knowledge. Portfolios of evidence will be important contributions to the assessment process.

As a result, this qualification can be achieved wholly or in part through recognition of prior learning, which includes formal, informal and non-formal learning and workplace experience, in terms of the assessment criteria laid out.

Any learner wishing to be directly assessed may arrange to do so, without participating in further training or education.

Integrated assessment

Development of the competencies may be through a combination of informal and formal learning, selflearning, training programmes and work-based application (learnerships). Providers should conduct diagnostic and formative assessment. Formative, continuous and diagnostic assessments should also take place in the work place. The learner should be able to assess him or herself and determine readiness for a summative assessment against this qualification.

INTERNATIONAL COMPARABILITY

Heritage Practice is a discipline with globally recognised best practices and qualifications. This qualification and set of unit standards utilises international and local recognised best practice and standards to afford international comparability.

Australia has a Certificate in Indigenous Heritage Site Management:

Units of competency included in the Australian qualification that closely resembles the present qualification: > Observe and report basic condition of collection

- > Protect the collection
- > Assist with the movement and storage of objects
- > Transport objects to new locations
- > Undertake general administrative procedures
- > Maintain information records system to ensure its integrity
- > Collect and provide information to facilitate communication flow
- > Operate a computer to gain access to and retrieve data
- > Design and develop documents, reports and worksheets

Australia also offers a qualification in the Introduction to Heritage Tourism in the Community, which the present qualification offers as an elective outcome

New Zealand has various Unit Standards relating to Heritage Management, for example > Examine the significance of Maori heritage sites and factors that impact on these sites:

Overall the present qualification correlates closely with international qualifications, since the International Council of Museums (ICOMOS) usually endorses Heritage Practice and Heritage Management qualifications.

ARTICULATION OPTIONS

This qualification will allow a person to articulate vertically to the National Certificate in Heritage Management at NQF level 5. This qualification will also provide articulation with a range of qualifications in the tourism and hospitality areas; art, craft and design areas; arts administration areas; marketing areas; community development areas; and through fundamentals of other NQF level 4 qualifications.

MODERATION OPTIONS

The summative assessment will be directed through an ETQA. Professional Institutes or individuals, locally and internationally, involved in Heritage Management and Development can also act as independent referees. Local institutes are able to span the South African Museums Association (SAMA), South African Heritage Development Agency, South African Heritage Resources Agency (SAHRA), the Tourism, Hospitality and Education Training Authority (THETA).

CRITERIA FOR THE REGISTRATION OF ASSESSORS .

Assessors should keep the following general principles in mind when designing and conducting assessment:

> Focus the initial assessment activities on gathering evidence in terms of the main outcomes expressed in the titles of the unit standards to ensure assessment is integrated rather than fragmented. The aim is to declare the person competent in terms of the qualification purpose. Where assessment across titles or at title level is unmanageable, then focus assessment around each specific outcome, or groups of specific outcomes. Take special note of the need for integrated assessment.

04/05/11	Qual ID:	48812	SAQA: NLRD Report "Qualification Detail"

> All assessments should be conducted in line with the following well documented principles of assessment: appropriateness, fairness, manageability, integration into work or learning, validity, direct, authentic, sufficient, systematic, open and consistent as defined below:

Principles of assessment:

> Appropriate: The method of assessment is suited to the competency being assessed.

> Fair: The method of assessment does not present any barriers to achievements, which are not related to the evidence.

> Manageable: The methods used make for easily arranged cost-effective assessments that do not unduly interfere with learning.

> Integration into work or learning: Evidence collection is integrated into work or learning process where this is appropriate and feasible.

> Valid: The assessment focuses on the requirements laid down in the Standard; i.e. the assessment is fit for purpose.

> Direct: The activities in the assessment mirror the conditions of actual performance as closely as possible.

> Authentic: The assessor is satisfied that the work being assessed is attributable to the person being assessed.

> Sufficient: The evidence collected establishes that all criteria have been met and that performance to the required

Standard can be repeated consistently.

> Systematic: Planning and recording is sufficiently rigorous to ensure that assessment is fair.

> Open: Learners can contribute to the planning and accumulation of evidence. Assessment learners understand the assessment process and the criteria that apply.

> Consistent: The same assessor would make the same judgement again in similar circumstances. The judgement made is similar to the judgement that would be made by other assessors.

Criteria for the registration of assessors

For an applicant to register as an assessor, the applicant needs:

> A minimum of an NQF level 5 Qualification in this or a related sub-field

> To be declared competent in all the outcomes of the National Assessor Unit Standards as stipulated by South African Qualifications Authority (SAQA)

> Detailed documentary proof of educational qualification, practical training undergone, and experience gained by the applicant must be provided.
