“Basic Conditions of Employment Act” means the Basic Conditions of Employment Act, 1997 (Act No. 75 of 1997); as amended

“Labour Relations Act” means the Labour Relations Act, 1995 (Act No. 66 of 1995); as amended

“temporary employees” mean workers who are employed to work for three consecutive months or less

“work of equal value” includes work that is the same, substantially the same or of the same value as other work, as contemplated in regulation 4.

SECTION B: Unfair Discrimination

Equal Pay for Work of Equal Value Criteria

1. Eliminating unfair discrimination

- (1) An employer must, in order to eliminate unfair discrimination, take steps to eliminate differences in terms and conditions of employment, including remuneration, of employees who perform work of equal value if those differences are directly or indirectly based on a listed ground<sup>1</sup> or any arbitrary ground that is prohibited by section 6(1) of the Act.
- (2) Without limiting sub regulation 1, an employer must ensure that employees are not paid different remuneration for work of equal value based on race, gender or disability.

2. Meaning of work of equal value

For the purposes of these regulations, the work performed by an employee –

- (a) is the same as the work of another employee of the same employer, if their work is identical or interchangeable;
- (b) is substantially the same as the work of another employee employed by that employer, if the work performed by the employees is sufficiently similar that they can reasonably be considered to be performing the same job, even if their work is not identical or interchangeable;
- (c) is of the same value as the work of another employee of the same employer in a different job, if their respective occupations are accorded the same value in accordance with regulations 3 to 5.

3. Methodology

When, applying s6 (4) of the Act –

- (a) it must first be established
  - (i) whether the work concerned is of equal value in accordance with regulation 4; and
  - (ii) whether there is a difference in terms and conditions of employment, including remuneration; and
- (b) it must then be established whether any difference in terms of sub regulation (a) (ii) constitutes unfair discrimination, applying the provisions of section 11 of the Act.

4. Assessing whether work is of equal value

- (1) In considering whether work is of equal value, the relevant jobs must be objectively assessed taking into account the following criteria:
  - (a) the responsibility demanded of the work, including responsibility for people, finances and material;
  - (b) the skills, qualifications, including prior learning and experience required to perform the work, whether formal or informal;
  - (c) physical, mental and emotional effort required to perform the work;
  - (d) to the extent that it is relevant, the conditions under which work is performed, including physical environment, psychological conditions, time when and geographic location where the work is performed.
- (2) In addition to the criteria specified in sub regulation 1 any other factor indicating the value of the work may be taken into account in evaluating work, if the employer shows that the factor is relevant to assessing the value of the work.
- (3) The assessment undertaken in terms of sub regulations 1 and 2 must be conducted in a manner that is free from bias on grounds of race, gender or disability, any other listed ground or any arbitrary ground that is prohibited in terms of section 6(1) of the Act .
- (4) Despite sub regulations 1 and 2, an employer may justify the value assigned to an employee's work by reference to the classification of a relevant job in terms of a sectoral determination made by the Minister of Labour in terms of section 55 of the Basic Conditions of Employment Act, 1997 (Act No. 75 of 1997 ) which applies to the employer.

5. Factors justifying differentiation in terms and conditions of employment

- (1) If employees perform work that is of equal value, a difference in terms and conditions of employment, including remuneration, is not unfair discrimination if the difference is fair and rational and is based on any one or a combination of the following grounds:
  - (a) the individuals' respective seniority or length of service;
  - (b) the individuals' respective qualifications, ability, competence or potential above the minimum acceptable levels required for the performance of the job;
  - (c) the individuals' respective performance, quantity or quality of work, provided that employees are equally subject to the employer's performance evaluation system, that the performance evaluation system is consistently applied;
  - (d) where an employee is demoted as a result of organisational restructuring or for any other legitimate reason without a reduction in pay and fixing the employee's salary at this level until the remuneration of employees in the same job category reaches this level;
  - (e) where an individual is employed temporarily in a position for purposes of gaining experience or training and as a result receives different remuneration or enjoys different terms and conditions of employment
  - (f) the existence of a shortage of relevant skill, or the market value in a particular job classification;
  - (g) any other relevant factor that is not unfairly discriminatory in terms of section 6(1).
- (2) A differentiation in terms and conditions based on one or more grounds listed in sub regulation 1 will be fair and rational if it is established, in accordance with section 11 of the Act, that –
- (3) Its application is not biased against an employee or group of employees based on race, gender or disability or any other ground listed in section 6(1) of the Act; and
- (4) It is applied in a proportionate manner.

6. Consultation over elimination of unfair discrimination in terms and conditions of employment

- (1) A designated employer must consult, to the extent and in the manner required by section 16 of the Act, on the elimination of unfair discrimination due to differences in terms and conditions of employment of employees who are performing work of equal value that unfairly impact on employees from a designated group.
- (2) A designated employer and the representatives contemplated by section 16(1) of the Act may agree to engage in consultations on the elimination of unfair discrimination due to differences in terms and conditions of employment in any manner other than that contemplated by sub regulation 1.
- (3) Every employer that has not consulted in the manner contemplated by sub regulation 1 or 2 must, if requested by a representative consulting party contemplated by sub regulation 4 enter into consultations on the elimination of unfair discrimination due to differences in terms and conditions of employment of employees who are performing work of equal value that unfairly impact on employees from a designated group.

- (4) For the purposes of sub regulation 3, a representative consulting party means –
  - (a) one or more registered trade unions representing more than half of an employer's workforce and
  - (b) if there are no such trade unions, representative of its employees representing more than half of an employer's workforce and reflecting the interests of employees in accordance with the requirements of section 16(2) of the Act.
- (5) An employer must, for the purpose of consultations in terms of this regulation, disclose any information that will allow those parties to consult effectively.

THE FOLLOWING MUST BE TAKEN INTO CONSIDERATION WHEN COMPLETING THE EEA4 FORMS

1. All employees (including Foreign Nationals) must be included when completing the EEA4 form in the appropriate space provided in the table below. Temporary employees mean workers who are employed to work for three consecutive months or less;
2. The total number of employees covered in the EEA4 reporting form must be exactly the same as the number of employees covered in Table 1.1 in the EEA2 reporting form in terms of race and gender. The "as at date" to determine representation levels for the EEA4 in terms of race and gender must be aligned and exactly the same date used to determine the workforce profile in Table 1.1 of the EEA2 reporting form.
3. Calculation of remuneration must include twelve months, which must be in line with the period covered by the EEA2 reporting form. In the case of employees who have not worked a full twelve month period an amount equivalent to the annual salary should be furnished, e.g. if a person worked for three months and earned R30 000, the annual equivalent will be  $(R30\ 000 / 3) * 12$ , which means the annual equivalent for this person will be R120 000. All payment amounts to be reflected in the table below must be rounded to the nearest Rand (R) and included as total remuneration for each group in terms of race and gender.
4. No blank spaces, commas (,), full stops or decimal points (.) or any other separator should be included when capturing the payment amounts in each of the cells in the table below – for example R7 345 567.22 must be captured as 7345567 with no separators.
5. The payments below indicate what must be included and what must be excluded in an employee's remuneration for the purposes of calculating pay in order to complete the EEA4 form.

5.1 Included

- (a) Housing or accommodation allowance or subsidy or housing or accommodation received as a benefit in kind;
- (b) Car allowance or provision of a car, except to the extent that the car is provided to enable the employee to work;
- (c) Any cash payments made to an employee, except those listed as exclusions in terms of this schedule;
- (d) Any other payment in kind received by an employee, except those listed as exclusions in terms of this schedule;
- (e) Employer's contributions to medical aid, pension, provident fund or similar schemes; and
- (f) Employer's contributions to funeral or death benefit schemes.

5.2 Excluded

- (a) Any cash payment or payment in kind provided to enable the employee to work (for example, an equipment, tool or similar allowance or the provision of transport or the payment of a transport allowance to enable the employee to travel to and from work);
  - (b) A relocation allowance;
  - (c) Gratuities (for example, tips received from customers) and gifts from the employer;
  - (d) Share incentive schemes;
  - (e) Discretionary payments not related to an employee's hours of work or performance (for example, a discretionary profit-sharing scheme);
  - (f) An entertainment allowance; and
  - (g) An education or schooling allowance.
6. The value of payments in kind must be determined as follows –
    - (a) a value agreed to in either a contract of employment or collective agreement, provided that the agreed value may not be less than the cost to the employer of providing the payment in kind; or
    - (b) the cost to the employer of providing the payment in kind.
  7. An employee is not entitled to a payment or the cash value of a payment in kind as part of remuneration if-
    - (a) the employee received the payment or enjoyed, or was entitled to enjoy, the payment in kind during the relevant period; or
    - (b) in the case of a contribution to a fund or scheme that forms part of remuneration, the employer paid the contribution in respect of the relevant period.
  8. If a payment fluctuates over a period of 13 weeks or if an employee has been in employment for a shorter period, the actual amount for that period should be calculated and converted to the annual equivalent.

INCOME DIFFERENTIALS STATEMENT

Please use the table below to indicate the number of employees, including people with disabilities, and their remuneration in each occupational level in terms of race and gender.

This annexure provides a table of equivalent occupational levels that may be used by employers when completing the EEA2 and EEA4 forms.

INSTRUCTIONS

The table below indicates the occupational levels within organizations as developed through the use of different job evaluation or grading systems. The table provides equivalent levels from each of these job evaluation systems.

Organisations that do not have job evaluation and grading systems should use the table below for guidance to determine the occupational levels in their organisations.
