MEMORANDUM ON THE OBJECTS OF THE JUDICIAL MATTERS AMENDMENT BILL, 2012

1. BACKGROUND

The Judicial Matters Amendment Bill, 2012 (the Bill), seeks to amend the Special Investigating Units and Special Tribunals Act, 1996 (Act No. 74 of 1996) (the SIU Act), in order to—

- further regulate the litigation functions of a Special Investigating Unit (SIU);
- provide for the secondment of a member of an SIU to another State institution; and
- provide for the funding of an SIU, which includes expenses and fees for services rendered in the course of or in connection with the exercise of powers and the performance of functions of the SIU in terms of the SIU Act, and to authorise any such fees or expenses levied or defrayed prior to the amendments proposed in the Bill.

The Bill also seeks to amend the National Prosecuting Authority Act, 1998 (Act No. 32 of 1998) (the NPA Act), in order to—

- do away with the requirement for the Minister of Justice and Constitutional Development to consult with the National Director of Public Prosecutions (the NDPP), the Minister for the Public Service and Administration and the Minister of Finance in the event of ordinary cost-of-living remuneration increases for Deputy Directors of Public Prosecutions and prosecutors; and
- provide for the appointment, continued employment and conditions of service of persons employed in the National Prosecuting Authority as financial investigators and analysts.

2. OBJECTS OF BILL

2.1 Clauses 1, 3, 4 and 5

The amendments proposed by clauses 1, 3, 4 and 5 of the Bill seek to further regulate the litigation functions of an SIU in terms of the SIU Act. The original purpose behind the enactment of the SIU Act was to create a mechanism in terms of which civil litigation flowing from the investigations by an SIU into serious cases of malpractice (including corruption) and maladministration could be dealt with more speedily. The mechanism for this, namely a dedicated Special Tribunal created by sections 2(1)(b) and 7 to 10 of the SIU Act, is intended to adjudicate on matters brought before it by a dedicated SIU which, in turn, was directly involved in the investigation of the matters in question.

This intention manifests itself clearly in the long title and in section 4(1)(b) and (c) of the SIU Act, which provides for—

- the establishment of SIU's for the purpose of investigating serious malpractices or maladministration in connection with the administration of State institutions, State assets and public money as well as any conduct which may seriously harm the interests of the public or any category thereof, and for the establishment of Special Tribunals so as to adjudicate upon civil matters emanating from investigations by any SIU; and
- the functions of an SIU, which are, amongst others, to collect evidence regarding acts or omissions relevant to its investigations and, if applicable, to institute proceedings in a Special Tribunal against the parties concerned, and to present evidence in proceedings brought before a Special Tribunal.

However, this clear purpose has been affected by some decisions of our courts of law that severely limit the locus standi in iudicio of an SIU. The proposed amendments are therefore intended to allow an SIU to litigate on behalf of State institutions.

One of the reasons for affording an SIU this power to litigate on behalf of State institutions is to assist with the recovery of losses suffered by State institutions as a result of serious malpractice (including corruption) and maladministration. Generally, a State institution may recover losses through the Office of the State Attorney. However, in instances where the State institution neglects to recover such losses, an SIU can be used for this purpose.

2.2 Clause 2

Clause 2 seeks to amend section 3 of the SIU Act by adding a new subsection (6) to provide for the secondment of a member of an SIU to another State institution. The reasons for the secondment of members of an SIU to State institutions include the following:

- To assist State institutions with the establishment and enhancing of in-house anti-corruption capacity and procedures;
- to assist other law enforcement agencies, including the Asset Forfeiture Unit, in joint operational projects;
- to enhance the skills of the members of an SIU through practical exposure to the operational methods of other law enforcement agencies or State institutions; and
- to assist State institutions with the planning, directing and conducting of internal forensic investigations.

2.3 Clause 4

Clause 4 further seeks to empower an SIU to charge and recover fees and expenses from a State institution for anything done in terms of the SIU Act in respect of that State institution or a State institution identified by that State institution, together with legal costs relating to the institution and conducting of civil proceedings in terms of the Act, as well as interest in terms of the Prescribed Rate of Interest Act, 1975 (Act No. 55 of 1975).

2.4 Clause 6

Clause 6 seeks to broaden the power of the Minister when he or she makes regulations in terms of the SIU Act, which includes the making of regulations regarding fees and expenses recoverable for services rendered in terms of the SIU Act.

2.5 Clause 7

Clause 7 seeks to insert new sections 13A, 13B and 13C in the SIU Act to provide for the funding, accountability and audit of the SIU's.

Funding in terms of the proposed section 13A includes expenses and fees for services rendered in the course of or in connection with the exercise of powers and the performance of functions of an SIU in terms of the SIU Act, and the authorisation of any such fees or expenses levied or defrayed prior to the amendments proposed in the Bill.

The SIU Act is silent on how an SIU is to be funded. A practice has developed in terms of which an SIU would enter into service level agreements (SLA's) with some of the State institutions in respect of which the President had issued proclamations mandating investigations by an SIU. The purpose of these SLA's was to provide for a funding contribution by the State institutions to the SIU to supplement its resources. Without such funding contributions, the SIU would not have been able to undertake all these investigations since its base-line budget, received from the National Treasury, is insufficient to fund all the investigations the SIU is required to undertake. The validity of these SLA's is uncertain.

This amendment, together with the amendment discussed under paragraph 2.3, will empower an SIU to charge fees to defray operational costs of that SIU from a State institution concerned in the course of or in connection with an investigation.

2.6 Clause 8

Clause 8 seeks to amend the long title of the SIU Act to bring it in line with the provisions proposed in the aforesaid amendments.

2.7 Clause 9

Clause 9 seeks to do away with the cumbersome and time-consuming consultation process in respect of cost-of-living increases of Deputy Directors of Public Prosecutions and prosecutors in terms of section 18 of the NPA Act, whilst simultaneously retaining the existing consultation process when the Minister determines the salary structures of these personnel, should it becomes necessary to have such structures reviewed.

Currently, section 18(1) of the NPA Act provides that any Deputy Director of Public Prosecutions or prosecutor must be paid a salary in accordance with the scale determined from time to time for his or her rank and grade by the Minister, after consultation with the NDPP and the Minister for the Public Service and Administration, and with the concurrence of the Minister of Finance, by notice in the Gazette.

In turn, section 18(4) provides, amongst others, that a notice containing the Minister's determination contemplated in subsection (1), must be issued if circumstances, including any revision and adjustment of salaries and allowances of the NDPP and magistrates since the latest revision and adjustment of salaries of Deputy Directors of Public Prosecutions or prosecutors, so justify. This provision is clearly peremptory and requires that, whenever the salaries of the NDPP and magistrates are revised, regard must be had to the salaries of Deputy Directors of Public Prosecutions and prosecutors.

In order to appreciate the import of the provisions of section 18(1) and (4), it is important to point out the following:

- Section 18(1) requires that the consultation process prescribed must also be followed in instances where cost-of-living increases are to be implemented. It is not only limited to salary restructuring.
- Section 18(4) expressly compels the Minister of Justice and Constitutional Development to revise the salaries of prosecutors from time to time and, specifically, to take into account new salary determinations and adjustments made in respect of the NDPP and magistrates.

The purpose of these provisions is to ensure that the Minister maintains the link between the salaries of prosecutors, on the one hand, and the NDPP, Deputy Directors of Public Prosecutions and magistrates, on the other, and to prevent experienced prosecutors from applying for magistrates' posts as a result of better salary dispensations linked to such posts. Furthermore, experience has shown that cost-of-living increases for Deputy Directors of Public Prosecutions and prosecutors have followed this trend in the Public Service.

Therefore, although the Minister and the Ministers for the Public Service and Administration and of Finance may agree to the proposed salary determinations in terms of sections 18(1) of the NPA Act, the process of consultation required in terms of the Act takes time and results in prosecutors receiving their increases long after the increases for public servants have been implemented. The consultation process is cumbersome and every year there is great concern, uncertainty and unhappiness regarding the situation.

Furthermore, the Occupational Specific Dispensation for Legally Qualified Personnel in the Public Service was recently introduced and was determined by the Minister, in terms of section 18(1) of the NPA Act, to be applicable to Deputy Directors of Public Prosecutions and prosecutors. As a result, Deputy Directors of Public Prosecutions and prosecutors are now on the same scales that apply to legally qualified personnel in the Public Service.

2.8 Clause 10

Clause 10 seeks to amend the NPA Act in order to further regulate the appointment, remuneration and conditions of service of financial investigators or analysts who are used by the Asset Forfeiture Unit (AFU) in financial investigations or processes relating to the proceeds of unlawful activities or the civil recovery of property contemplated in the Prevention of Organised Crime Act, 1998 (Act No. 121 of 1998).

These financial investigators or analysts were appointed as special investigators in terms of Chapter 3A of the NPA Act. Section 5 of the National Prosecuting Authority Amendment Act, 2008 (Act No. 56 of 2008) (the NPA Amendment Act), which regulated the transfer of the investigating capacity of the Directorate of Special Operations to the South African Police Service, repealed Chapter 3A of the NPA Act. The unintended consequence of the repeal of Chapter 3A is that the appointment, remuneration and conditions of service of financial investigators and analysts are now not regulated by statute. The amendment proposed by this clause seeks to rectify this oversight.

2.9 Clause 11

Clause 11 contains the short title.

3. DEPARTMENTS/BODIES/PERSONS CONSULTED

3.1 The majority of the clauses of the Bill formed part of a separate Judicial Matters Amendment Bill, which was submitted, amongst others, to the Chief Justice, the respective Judges President, magistrates, the Magistrates Commission, the legal profession, the Special Investigating Unit, the South African Police Service and the NDPP for comment. Consultation in respect of clauses 3(a), in so far as it inserts paragraph (ii) in section 4(1)(c) of the SIU Act, 3(b), 4(a) and (d), 6, 7, 9 and 10 took place with the SIU and the NPA.

3.2 Comments received were accommodated, where possible.

4. FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS FOR STATE

The implementation of the Act will not have financial implications for the State. However, if a matter is referred to an SIU for investigation in terms of section 2(1) of the SIU Act, it may, in terms of the proposed section 5(1)(b), have financial implications for the State institution that is being investigated, since the Head of the SIU concerned may charge and recover fees and expenses from that State institution for anything done in terms of the SIU Act.

5. PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

- 5.1 The Department of Justice and Constitutional Development and the State Law Advisers are of the opinion that this Bill must be dealt with in accordance with the procedure established by section 75 of the Constitution since it contains no provision to which the procedure set out in section 74 or 76 of the Constitution applies.
- 5.2 The State Law Advisers are of the opinion that it is not necessary to refer this Bill to the National House of Traditional Leaders in terms of section 18(1)(a) of the Traditional Leadership and Governance Framework Act, 2003 (Act No. 41 of 2003), since it does not contain provisions pertaining to customary law or customs of traditional communities.
