MEMORANDUM ON THE OBJECTS OF THE DIAMONDS AMENDMENT BILL

1. PURPOSE OF BILL AND BACKGROUND INFORMATION

1.1 At present, the Diamonds Act, 1986 (Act No. 56 of 1986) (“the Act”), does not drive the beneficiation of the diamond resources in the Republic even though South Africa is one of the largest producers of diamonds in the world. In addition, the Board of Directors of the South African Diamonds Board (“the Board”) is dominated by the industry and the Board, as an institution, is funded through levies, thereby further strengthening industry control. Government initiatives and policies are not always in the best interest of the Board, resulting in decisions not being implemented or being delayed indefinitely.

1.2 The Act does not provide for the local supply of rough diamonds to the local diamond cutting and polishing industry. However, in terms of section 59 of the Act the Board may enter into an agreement with “any producer, dealer or any association or organization of producers or dealers in pursuance of which any such producer, dealer, association or organization allocates or offers unpolished diamonds . . . cutters or tool-makers” in order to ensure that cutters and tool-makers obtain a regular supply of unpolished diamonds. There is no obligation on producers to offer a portion of their unpolished diamonds to the local market. Local beneficiation (value addition) is hampered by these “section 59 agreements” with producers in that the majority of producers choose to export rough diamonds for beneficiation elsewhere in the world, creating wealth and jobs in those countries.

2. OBJECTS OF DIAMONDS AMENDMENT BILL

The objects of the Bill are—

- (a) to establish the South African Diamonds and Precious Metals Regulator (“the Regulator”) to, inter alia, implement, administer and control all matters relating to the sale, purchase, local beneficiation, import and export of diamonds;
- (b) to provide that the Board of Directors of the Regulator will be well represented by government, ensuring that government policies and initiatives with regard to diamonds will be implemented and regulated accordingly;
- (c) to stipulate that the Regulator will be funded by money appropriated by Parliament as well as money accrued from any other sources, i.e. donations or bequests;
- (d) to provide for the establishment of diamond exchange and export centres as “one-stop-shops” where temporary permit holders (foreigners) may purchase and export rough diamonds as well as pay the 15% export duty retained from the present legislation. Any producer who exports unpolished diamonds will export from this centre and pay the relevant export duty;
- (e) to provide for any local beneficiator to purchase unpolished diamonds at the diamond exchange and export centres;
- (f) to establish a State Diamond Trader (“the Trader”) for the purposes of promoting equitable access to and local beneficiation of South Africa’s rough diamond resources as well as rough diamonds acquired from other sources. The Trader will purchase a portion of rough diamonds from local producers based on the requirements of local beneficiators and sell those to local beneficiators at a fair market price. It is envisaged that the beneficiation industry should expand once the supply of rough diamonds to the Trader is maintained;
- (g) to provide for the Trader to have its own Board of Directors;
- (h) to license local trading houses and the holder of such licence will be entitled to facilitate the buying and selling of unpolished diamonds locally on his or her business premises;
- (i) to retain the present rate of 15% export duty on rough diamonds which will be mandatory on the export of rough diamonds from South Africa; and
- (j) to provide for the conversion of licences and permits presently held by cutters, polishers, dealers and trading houses in terms of the transitional provisions within one year from the promulgation of this Bill.

5. PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

5.1 The State Law Advisers and the Department of Minerals and Energy are of the opinion that this Bill must be dealt with in accordance with the procedure established by section 75 of the Constitution since it contains no provision to which the procedure set out in section 74 or 76 of the Constitution applies.

5.2 The State Law Advisers are of the opinion that it is not necessary to refer this Bill to the National House of Traditional Leaders in terms of section 18(1)(a) of the Traditional Leadership and Governance Framework Act, 2003 (Act No. 41 of 2003), since it does not contain provisions pertaining to customary law or customs of traditional communities.
