MEMORANDUM ON THE OBJECTS OF THE SOUTH AFRICAN POLICE SERVICE AMENDMENT BILL, 2008

1. BACKGROUND

1.1 The Directorate of Special Operations (DSO), had been established in terms of the National Prosecuting Authority Act, 1998 (Act No. 32 of 1998), as an investigative capacity under the National Prosecuting Authority. The DSO had been established to function in an intelligence-driven and prosecution-directed fashion. As a result of the fact that the implementation of the DSO's legal mandate was not entirely satisfactory, the mandate and location of the Directorate became the topic of a formal Commission of Inquiry, headed by Judge S Khampepe.

1.2 Particular aspects that were inquired into by the Commission related to the lack of coordinated relationships between the DSO, the South African Police Service and the intelligence structures of the Republic, a lack of oversight over the DSO by the Independent Complaints Directorate in respect of their law enforcement functions, a lack of oversight by the Inspector-General of Intelligence in respect of intelligence activities, non-compliance with the vetting procedures required by the National Prosecuting Authority Act, 1998, in respect of DSO members, liaisons by the DSO with foreign intelligence structures, the alleged leaking of information to the media on investigations of the DSO, and the concomitant media sensation created thereby, the fact that the DSO had established crime intelligence gathering capabilities outside its mandate, and the disjunction in political accountability and oversight. In respect of the last-mentioned issue, the DSO functions totally separate from the Minister of Safety and Security, which Minister has the overall responsibility to address the overall policing or investigative needs and priorities of the Republic.

1.3 In its statement on decisions taken as a result of the Report of the Khampepe Commission of Inquiry, dated 29 June 2006, Cabinet already alluded to conferring the political oversight and responsibility for the law enforcement component of the DSO to the Minister of Safety and Security.

1.4 Various decisions were taken by Cabinet on the future of the DSO. Cabinet eventually decided that there was a need to address organised crime in a more comprehensive fashion, and to that end to amalgamate selected special investigators of the DSO with selected members of the Commercial Crime and Organised Crime Components of the South African Police Service, into a new Division within the South African Police Service, the Directorate for Priority Crime Investigation. The Directorate will have a multi-disciplinary approach, involving personnel seconded from other Government Departments or institutions. It will also have a dedicated component of prosecutors of the National Prosecuting Authority available to assist investigators in conducting their investigations.

1.5 On the fixed date (a date to be determined by the President), Special Investigators as well as administrative and support personnel of the DSO will become members of the SAPS. This is in line with Cabinet's decision that the criminal justice system must be reviewed to make it more effective and credible. Prosecutors of the DSO will not become members of the SAPS. They will remain in the National Prosecuting Authority to strengthen the prosecutorial service in prosecuting cases which are being investigated by the Directorate for Priority Crime Investigation.

1.6 The Directorate for Priority Crime Investigation will investigate national priority offences referred to in section 16 of the South African Police Service Act, 1995. These offences include serious organised crime, serious commercial crime and serious corruption which requires national prevention of investigation, or crime which require specialised skills in the prevention and investigation thereof.

1.7 The Bill provides that the President shall designate a Ministerial Committee comprising various Ministers to determine policy guidelines for the Directorate and oversee the functioning thereof.

1.8 The Bill also provides for Parliamentary oversight of the Directorate's functions, which includes policy guidelines and procedures of the designated Ministerial Committee. The Operational Co-ordinating Committee consisting of senior officials of relevant Government departments and institutions shall facilitate, review and monitor co-operation between the Directorate and these departments and institutions. A mechanism is established, by the appointment of a retired judge to investigate serious complaints from members of the public who can provide evidence of a serious and unlawful infringements of their rights as a result of the investigations of the Directorate.

The retired judge may also refer complaints which need to be addressed by other institutions, such as the Independent Complaints Directorate, Inspector-General of Intelligence and other institutions mentioned in Chapter 9 of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996.

2. OBJECTS

The objects of the Bill are to provide for the establishment of a Directorate for Priority Crime Investigation, as a separate Division in the SAPS. The Directorate will be responsible for the prevention, combating and investigation of national priority offences. The Directorate will have a multi-disciplinary character and will be headed by a Deputy National Commissioner, appointed by the Minister in concurrence with Cabinet. The Directorate will consist of persons appointed by the National Commissioner on the recommendation of the Head of the Directorate, legal officers and officials from any Government department or institution, seconded to the Directorate in terms of laws governing the public service.

The Bill provides for the vetting of and integrity measures for members of the Directorate, and for transitional measures in respect of the transfer of the DSO to the SAPS.

The Bill provides that the validity of investigations of the DSO will not be affected by the transfer of the DSO to the SAPS. The transfer of members of the DSO to the SAPS will be done without negatively affecting their conditions of service or remuneration.

3. BODIES CONSULTED

The Bill was drafted in close liaison between the Department of Justice and Constitutional Development and the Department of Safety and Security. The National Prosecuting Authority and the DSO were also consulted in the process. Extensive public hearings on the Bill were held throughout the Republic and numerous written submissions were made by members of the public.

4. FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS

The Bill provides that the allocated budget and assets and liabilities of the Directorate of Special Operations as agreed upon between the accounting officers of the South African Police Service and the Directorate of Special Operations respectively must be transferred to the South African Police Service in accordance with section 42 of the Public Finance Management Act, 1999 (Act No. 1 of 1999).

There will be financial implications arising from the relocation of resources and the allocation of additional physical resources to the Directorate for Priority Crime Investigation. These will however be accommodated within the department's allocated budget without any negative effect on service delivery.

5. PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE
