Short title

30. This Act is called the Companies Amendment Act, 2001.

MEMORANDUM ON THE OBJECTS OF THE COMPANIES AMENDMENT BILL, 2001

1. Approximately four years ago the South African Companies Registration Office (Sacro), in co-operation with the South African Revenue Service (Sars), departments of state, other regulators and the private sector, embarked on the development of a completely electronic and computerised system for the incorporation of companies and the registration of corporate information in respect of such companies. The development phase has now been finalised and Sacro is now ready to finalise the implementation of the system.

2. The Bill therefore seeks to amend the Companies Act, 1973 (Act No. 61 of 1973) ("the Act"), so as to make provision for the lodgement of documents and disclosure of information in respect of companies by means of the electronic process. The new matters that the Bill seeks to introduce in the Act relate to—

- * the phasing in of the electronic lodgement of corporate forms;
- * the phasing in of the electronic payment of fees prescribed by the Act; and
- * the electronic disclosure of corporate information.

3. In addition to the abovementioned proposals, the Bill also seeks to allow—

- * a company to keep a register of its members and an index to such register in an electronic format;
- * a company to sign certain documents by electronic means, in addition to the current autographic and mechanical means; and
- * a company to send its annual financial statements by electronic mail to its members who have consented thereto in writing.

4. The Bill also seeks to remove obsolete provisions and references, and to rectify an incorrect cross-reference, in the Act.

5. Consultation

The system has, over several years, been developed in ongoing co-operation with Sars and in consultation with departments of state, other regulators and the private sector. They include the following:

- * The Deeds Office;
- * the Department of Finance;
- * the National Treasury;
- * the Registrar of Banks;
- * the South African Reserve Bank;
- * the Banking Council;
- * the accounting and legal professions.

All the participants support the implementation of the system.

6. Financial implications for State

The Bill will have no financial implications which have not yet been properly provided for and expended under previous and current budgets.

7. Parliamentary Procedure

The State Law Advisers and the Department of Trade and Industry are of the opinion that this Bill must be dealt with in accordance with the procedure established by section 75 of the Constitution since it contains no provision to which the procedure set out in section 74 or 76 of the Constitution applies.
