Foreword

It is my privilege to present for the first time a separate school report that indicates the performance of the individual schools that participated in the 2011 National Senior Certificate examination, over a three year period. Six thousand, five hundred and ninety two (6592) examination centres participated in the 2011 examination, and the majority of these examination centres are public schools.

The 2011 NSC results indicate a clear consolidation of the efforts of the Department of Basic Education in ensuring that all learners access quality education. In the 2011 NSC examination 544 schools obtained 100%, 2432 schools obtained between 80% and 100% and 1895 schools performed between 60% and 70%. These schools are commended for their dedication and commitment to the quality of education in this country. The remaining 2243 schools will be the focus of the district intervention relating to school improvement. will devote special attention to these schools in 2012.

This report will be used by subject advisors and circuit managers to track the impact of their interventions which included common tests, extra-tuition and provision of additional support material. This will enable the Provincial Education Departments (PEDs) to re-examine their intervention strategies so as to ensure that they are contributing to the desired output. From the results of 2011 it is evident that the intervention strategies in some provinces were successful, while in others the intervention programme has to be reviewed and re-constructed where necessary. This report can also be used in identifying schools of excellence with a view to sharing their good practices and skills in a bid to address the bigger capacity building agenda of the country.

In moving towards the implementation of the Curriculum and Assessment Policy Statements (CAPS), more attention will be given to the underperforming schools to ensure that the number of learners not succeeding is drastically reduced. The achievement rate in the 2011 examination has provided me with renewed hope that as a country we are capable of successfully tackling the challenges of teaching and learning so as to ensure that all learners leave the schooling system with an exit qualification.

I want to take this opportunity to thank parents, teachers and principals as well as members of communities for their support in improving the quality of education at all our schools. Congratulations to all schools that were successful in the 2011 examination. To those schools that have not met the national and provincial targets, it is an opportunity to reflect seriously on your areas of weakness and focus on improving teaching and learning in 2012.

1. Introduction

The school is the locus of teaching and learning and is therefore the most critical component in improving the quality of basic education. Feedback from the examinations is not only necessary at the national and provincial levels, but feedback to schools must be prioritised and therefore this report details the performance of the individual schools.

This report which lists the performance of all schools in the country at the Grade 12 level, will be used in conjunction with the ANA results for schools that serve as feeder schools to these institutions. This will assist to ascertain whether the reasons for under-performance originate from the deficiencies in Literacy and Numeracy at the lower levels. This will therefore assist in addressing the challenges at an earlier stage in the teaching and learning continuum.

It is essential that the school environment should be made conducive for learning given that it is considered the second home of learners where they acquire values. Therefore, in analysing school performance, the broader societal issues will also be considered and addressed.

This report will therefore provide the results of each of the schools in the National Senior Certificate examination, indicating the number of candidates that wrote the examination and the number that satisfied the NSC requirements and the percentage obtained. It is crucial that schools are not judged solely by these figures, since learner performance is one of the indicators that could be used to judge the output of the school.

2. Scope of the document

This report will cover public, special and independent schools that write the National Senior Certificate examination. It covers overall performance of the schools in the 2009, 2010 and 2011 NSC examination. This period covers three years of implementation of the NSC Curriculum. There are however, certain schools that have participated in Grade 12 in 2011, but not in previous years.
