(2) Any such person to whom such application is made shall require each such party to furnish him with his or her full christian name and surname and may put to each of them such questions as he may deem necessary to determine whether any lawful impediment exists to the proposed marriage.

(3) If the person to whom such application is made is not satisfied that the proposed marriage may be legally solemnized, he shall, in order to determine whether there is any lawful impediment to the said marriage, interrogate each of the said parties and institute such other inquiries as he may deem necessary.

(4) For the purpose of such interrogation the said person shall administer an oath to each such party or require him or her to make an affirmation.

(5) If the person to whom such application is made is satisfied, whether or not after any such interrogation and inquiries, that there is no lawful impediment to the proposed marriage, he shall upon completion by each of the said parties of the prescribed affidavit or solemn declaration to the effect that there is no lawful impediment to the proposed marriage and upon payment of the prescribed fee (if any), issue such a special marriage licence in the prescribed form to them.

Period of validity of banns, notice of intention to marry and special marriage licence.

21 (1) Unless a marriage is solemnized in pursuance of banns of marriage or notice of intention to marry published, or a special marriage licence issued under the provisions of this Act or a prior law within three months of the last day of publication of such banns or notice or the date of issue of such licence, such banns or notice or licence, as the case may be, shall lapse and no marriage shall be solemnized in pursuance thereof.

(2) No person shall be entitled to a refund of any fee paid in respect of a certificate or licence which has lapsed by virtue of the provisions of sub-section (1).

Irregularities in publication of banns or notice of intention to marry or in the issue of special marriage licence.

22. If in the case of any marriage solemnized before or after the commencement of this Act the provisions of this Act or, as the case may be, any prior law relating to the publication of banns or notice of intention to marry or to the issue of special marriage licences, or the applicable provisions of any law of a country outside the Union relating to the publication of banns, have not been strictly complied with owing to—

- (a) an error committed in good faith by either of the parties to such marriage in interpreting those provisions; or
- (b) any error, omission or oversight of any person who made any such publication or issued a special marriage licence, but such marriage has in every other respect been solemnized in accordance with the provisions of this Act or, as the case may be, a prior law, that marriage shall, provided there was no other lawful impediment thereto, be as valid and binding as it would have been if the said provisions had been strictly complied with.

(2) If any person who makes such publication or issues such licence receives any such objection, such objection shall be stated by him in any relevant certificate or licence issued by him in terms of section fifteen, eighteen or nineteen.

(3) If any such objection is brought to the notice of the marriage officer who is to solemnize such marriage he shall inquire into the grounds of the objection and if he is satisfied that there is no lawful impediment to the proposed marriage, he may solemnize the marriage in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

(4) If he is not so satisfied he shall refuse to solemnize the marriage.

Marriage of minors.

24. (1) No marriage officer shall solemnize a marriage between parties of whom one or both are minors unless the consent to the party or parties which is legally required for the purpose of contracting the marriage has been granted and furnished to him in writing.

(2) For the purposes of sub-section (1) a minor does not include a person who is under the age of twenty-one years and previously contracted a valid marriage which has been dissolved by death or divorce.

When consent of parents or guardian of minor cannot be obtained.

25. (1) If a commissioner of child welfare as defined in section one of the Children's Act, 1960 (Act No. 33 of 1960), is after proper inquiry satisfied that a minor who is resident in the district or area in respect of which he holds office has no parent or guardian or is for any good reason unable to obtain the consent of his parents or guardian to enter into a marriage such commissioner of child welfare may in his discretion grant written consent to such minor to marry a specified person, but such commissioner of child welfare shall not grant his consent if the minor is such a pupil or child as is mentioned in paragraph (a) of sub-section (1) of section fifty-nine of the said Act or if one or other parent of the minor whose consent is required by law or his guardian refuses to grant consent to the marriage.

(2) A commissioner of child welfare shall, before granting his consent to a marriage under sub-section (1), enquire whether it is in the interests of the minor in question that the parties to the proposed marriage should enter into an antenuptial contract, and if he is satisfied that such is the case he shall not grant his consent to the proposed marriage before such contract has been entered into, and shall assist the said minor in the execution of the said contract.

(3) A contract so entered into shall be deemed to have been entered into with the assistance of the parent or guardian of the said minor.

(4) If the parent, guardian or commissioner of child welfare in question refuses to consent to a marriage of a minor, such consent may on application be granted by a judge of the Supreme Court of South Africa: Provided that such a judge shall not grant such consent unless he is of the opinion that such refusal of consent by the parent, guardian or commissioner of child welfare is without adequate reason and contrary to the interests of such minor.

Prohibition of marriage of persons under certain ages.

26. (1) No boy under the age of eighteen years and no girl under the age of sixteen years shall be capable of contracting a valid marriage except with the written permission of the Minister, which he may grant in any particular case in which he considers such marriage desirable: Provided that such permission shall not relieve the parties to the proposed marriage from the obligation to comply with all other requirements prescribed by law: Provided further that such permission shall not be necessary if by reason of any such other requirement the consent of a judge or court having jurisdiction in the matter is necessary and has been granted.

(2) If any person referred to in sub-section (1) who was not capable of contracting a valid marriage without the written permission of the Minister in terms of this Act or a prior law, contracted a marriage without such permission and the Minister considers such marriage to be desirable and in the interests of the parties in question, he may, provided such marriage was in every other respect solemnized in accordance with the provisions of this Act or, as the case may be, any prior law, and there was no other lawful impediment thereto, direct in writing that it shall for all purposes be a valid marriage.

(3) If the Minister so directs it shall be deemed that he granted written permission to such marriage prior to the solemnization thereof.

Proof of age of parties to proposed marriage.

27. If parties appear before a marriage officer for the purpose of contracting a marriage with each other and such marriage officer reasonably suspects that either of them is of an age which debars him or her from contracting a valid marriage without the consent or permission of some other person, he may refuse to solemnize a marriage between them unless he is furnished with such consent or permission in writing or with satisfactory proof showing that the party in question is entitled to contract a marriage without such consent or permission.

Marriage between person and relatives of his or her deceased or divorced spouse.

28. Any legal provision to the contrary notwithstanding it shall be lawful for—

"Do you, A.B., declare that as far as you know there is no lawful impediment to your proposed marriage with C.D. here present, and that you call all here present to witness that you take C.D. as your lawful wife (or husband)?"

and thereupon the parties shall give each other the right hand and the said marriage officer shall declare the marriage solemnized in the following words:

"I declare that A.B. and C.D. here present have been lawfully married."

Certain marriage officers may refuse to solemnize certain marriages.

31. 34. Nothing in this Act contained shall prevent—

(a) the making by any religious denomination or organization of such rules or regulations in connection with the religious blessing of marriages as may be in conformity with the religious views of such denomination or organization or the exercise of church discipline in any such case; or

(b) the acceptance by any person of any fee charged by such religious denomination or organization for the blessing of any marriage, provided the exercise of such authority is not in conflict with the civil rights and duties of any person.
