Matters relating to the Mental Health Care Act, 2002

25. (1) Legal aid is available to mental health care users and the means test is applied when the legal aid applicant is a mental health care user as contemplated in section 15 of the Mental Health Care Act, 2002 (Act No. 17 of 2002), subject to the provisions of subregulation (2).

(2) If—

- (a) the mental health care user is not assisted by his or her parent, guardian, spouse, life partner or child, the means of the mental health care user must be taken into consideration;
- (b) the mental health care user is assisted by his or her parent or guardian, spouse, life partner or child, the means of that parent, guardian, spouse, life partner or child must be taken into consideration; or

Commissions of Inquiry

26. Where funds are made available for legal aid by the establishing authority of a commission as contemplated in the Commissions Act, 1947 (Act No. 8 of 1947), legal aid may be provided for legal representation for a person appearing before a commission where that commission has certified that that person has standing before that commission.

Qualifying for legal aid and means test

27. (1) In order to qualify for legal aid in either civil or criminal cases, the legal aid applicant's gross monthly income less tax and net assets must fall within the parameters set by the means test contemplated in subregulations (2), (3), (4), (5) and (6) before legal aid may be granted.

(2) An applicant who applies for legal aid for a criminal case and has a net monthly income, after deduction of income tax, of R5 500 a month, or less, may qualify for legal aid in that criminal case irrespective of whether the applicant has a spouse or is a member of a household.

(3) An applicant who applies for legal aid for a civil case and who does not have a spouse or is not a member of a household and has a net monthly income, after deduction of income tax, of R5 500 a month, or less, may qualify for legal aid for that civil matter.

(4) An applicant who applies for legal aid for a civil case and who has a spouse or the applicant is a member of a household and whose household has a monthly income, after deduction of income tax, of R6 000 a month or less, may qualify for legal aid for that civil matter.

(5) A legal aid applicant or an applicant who is a member of a household who does not own immovable property and has net movable assets of less than R100 000 in value may qualify for legal aid for a civil or criminal matter.

(6) A legal aid applicant or an applicant who is a member of a household who owns immovable property and has net immovable assets and movable assets in value of up to R500 000, may qualify for legal aid for a civil or criminal matter: Provided that the legal aid applicant or the member of a household must physically reside in the immovable property or in at least one of the immovable properties, where there is more than one, unless Legal Aid South Africa decides to the contrary.

Amounts included or excluded for legal aid qualification

28. (1) A grant paid by the South African Social Security Agency is not taken into account in the calculation of income for purposes of the means test.

(2) Spousal maintenance or child support received by a legal aid applicant is taken into account in the calculation of income for purposes of the amounts.

(3) If any asset is owned by a trust, company or other legal personality but is controlled, either directly or indirectly, by the legal aid applicant or his or her spouse, dependent, sibling, parent, descendant or nominee, for the direct or indirect benefit of the legal aid applicant or his or her spouse, dependent, sibling, parent, descendant or nominee, that asset will be deemed to be owned by the legal aid applicant for the purposes of determining whether the legal aid applicant qualifies for legal aid in terms of the means test: Provided that where there are beneficiaries other than the legal aid applicant or his or her spouse, dependent, sibling, parent, descendant or nominee, the applicant is deemed to be the owner of his or her percentage share of that assets.

(4) Where a legal aid applicant applies for legal aid for litigation or possible litigation between him or her and his or her spouse, the legal aid applicant's means test must be assessed as if he or she does not have a spouse.

(5) A legal aid applicant must provide documentary proof and a written disclosure of assets for purposes of the means test, where requested.

(6) A legal aid applicant must provide proof that he or she is a natural person who is indigent as set out in these regulations.

(7) Legal Aid South Africa may conduct a forensic investigation of the financial circumstances of the applicant or recipient before legal aid is granted or after legal aid has been granted by itself or through a service provider.

No right to choose legal practitioner

29. No legal aid applicant has the right to choose the legal practitioner who will be instructed to represent him or her.

Exceeding the means test and discretion

30. (1) Legal Aid South Africa has the discretion to authorize fully subsidized legal aid for any applicant who exceeds the means test by up to R3 000 a month in respect of gross income for all matters and R100 000 in respect of net assets for all matters.

(2) Legal Aid South Africa may consider the application of any person who does not qualify for legal aid in terms of the means test under regulation 27(1) and (2), but who subjectively judged, is indigent and deserves sympathetic consideration on the grounds of exceptional or other circumstances: Provided such application otherwise qualifies for legal aid in terms of regulations 3(1) and 10(1).

Partially subsidized legal aid

31. (1) If a legal aid applicant does not qualify for legal aid in terms of the means test for a criminal matter, Legal Aid South Africa may provide partial legal aid and require from the legal aid applicant to contribute to the cost of the legal aid.

(2) In assessing whether partial legal aid should be provided Legal Aid South Africa must take the following factors into account:

- (a) Whether the applicant will suffer substantial injustice if legal aid is not provided;
- (b) whether the legal aid applicant will be able to afford the cost of his or her own legal representation; and
- (c) whether the applicant can adjust his or her standard of living to be able to afford the cost of his or her own legal representation.

Contributions by legal aid recipient

32. (1) If partial legal aid is provided as contemplated in regulation 31(1), the contribution amounts as set out in the Manual must be paid to Legal Aid South Africa monthly in advance until—

- (a) the cost recovery amount is paid in full;
- (b) cessation of the trial; or
- (c) the accused is convicted and sentenced to direct imprisonment, whereafter no further payment will become due and payable.

(2) If a legal aid recipient's circumstances change subsequent to the granting of partial legal aid as contemplated in regulation 31(1), Legal Aid South Africa may amend the contribution amount.

(3) If the legal aid recipient fails to pay any contribution as determined by Legal Aid South Africa, legal aid may be terminated.

(4) Where a court in accordance with section 22(1) of the Act orders/directs the provision of legal aid and the legal aid applicant exceeds the parameters of the means test, that court order must provide for a contribution in accordance with this regulation.

Termination of legal aid

33. (1) Legal Aid South Africa may terminate a legal aid recipient's legal aid on account of the conduct of the legal aid recipient, which may include that the legal aid recipient —

- (a) ceases to qualify under the means test;
- (b) fails to appear in court timeously on the appointed day without giving a good reason for not appearing and a warrant for arrest has been issued;
- (c) unreasonably refuses to accept a settlement;
- (d) does not timeously comply with a contribution order as contemplated in regulation 32;
- (e) terminates the mandate of the instructed legal practitioner unreasonably and without good reason; or
- (f) makes it impossible for the instructed legal practitioner to carry out his or her mandate.

(2) If legal aid is terminated Legal Aid South Africa may instruct a further legal practitioner after consideration of the facts of the case.

(3) Legal aid may be terminated where the instructed legal practitioner withdraws or has his or her mandate terminated by Legal Aid South Africa for reasons that may include the following:

- (a) Ethical reasons;
- (b) the legal practitioner ceases to practise;
- (c) the legal practitioner ceases to be a Legal Aid South Africa accredited legal aid practitioner;
- (d) the legal practitioner is unable to continue to act because of ill-health or another cause that makes it impossible to carry out his or her obligations as a practitioner; or
- (e) the legal practitioner fails to proceed with the matter.

(4) Where a legal practitioner's mandate is terminated as contemplated in subregulation (3), Legal Aid South Africa may appoint another legal practitioner if the legal aid recipient continues to comply with the provisions of these regulations.

(5) Legal Aid South Africa may terminate a legal aid recipient's legal aid for reasons that may include the following:

- (a) A change in policy on the type of matters for which legal aid is available;
- (b) the suspension of legal aid in certain types of matters as a result of a lack of resources; or
- (c) the legal aid recipient gives just cause for the termination of the practitioner's mandate.

(6) Where Legal Aid South Africa terminates a recipient's legal aid because of Legal Aid South Africa's policies or resources, it must ensure that the legal aid recipient does not suffer any prejudice as a result of the termination.

(7) In a civil legal aid case Legal Aid South Africa must withdraw legal aid if one or more of the following situations have arisen:

- (a) The applicant's problem is trivial or is without sufficient grounds and is only instituted to cause annoyance;
- (b) the circumstances suggest that no real or substantial benefit will be achieved by the rendering of legal aid;
- (c) the legal costs involved would be out of proportion to the relief that the legal aid applicant wishes to get; or
- (d) considering all the circumstances of the case, legal aid should not have been granted for financial or other reasons.

Refusal of legal aid

34. (1) When an application for legal aid has been refused the legal aid applicant has the right of appeal according to processes as determined in the Manual.

(2) Legal Aid South Africa must inform the legal aid applicant in a criminal matter of his or her right to apply to the court for an order that he or she must be provided with legal representation at State expense and that, before that order is considered, the court will refer the issue for evaluation and report by Legal Aid South Africa under section 22 of the Act.

- (a) may establish a legal precedent, jurisprudence or clarify aspects of the law that will be followed in dealing with indigent persons in similar matters;
- (b) may have the potential of resolving a large number of disputes or potential disputes, and obtain wider collective objectives; or
- (c) may improve the lives of a group of persons or a sizeable portion of a group.

(2) In a case contemplated in subregulation (1) legal aid may be granted to a legal entity acting on behalf of a large number of natural persons or in the furtherance of public interest in accordance with section 38 of the Constitution.

(3) If legal aid is refused for the matter as contemplated in subregulation (1), Legal Aid South Africa must inform that legal aid applicant that he or she has the right of appeal.

Medical and travelling costs

36. Legal Aid South Africa does not pay costs related to a legal aid applicant's—

- (a) medical treatment, operations or hospitalisation; or
- (b) travel expenses for attending a medical consultation or examination.

Receipt of monies after legal aid instruction

37. No additional moneys that are not due in terms of these regulations, the Manual or a court order, may be received directly or indirectly by a legal practitioner from the legal aid recipient, or from any other source, after receiving a legal aid instruction for a particular matter.

Payment of financial benefit to Legal Aid South Africa

38. When a litigant who receives legal aid from Legal Aid South Africa obtains a financial benefit as a result of a settlement or judgement at any stage after legal aid was granted, a percentage of the financial benefit is payable to Legal Aid South Africa, as determined in the Manual.
