There are no financial implications for the State.

6. PARLIAMENTARY PROCEDURE

- 6.1 In *Tongoane and Others v Minister of Agriculture and Land Affairs and Others, (“Tongoane”) the Constitutional Court (“CC”) confirmed the test formulated in order to determine the classification of a Bill (“tagging test”). According to the CC, what matters for the purposes of tagging, is not the substance or purpose of the Bill, but rather whether the provisions of the Bill in “substantial measure” fall within a functional area listed in Schedule 4.

- 6.2 In commenting on the “substantial measure test”, the CC made the following remarks:

“[60] The test for tagging must be informed by its purpose. Tagging is not concerned with determining the sphere of government that has the competence to legislate on a matter. Nor is the process concerned with preventing interference in the legislative competence of another sphere of government. The process is concerned with the question of how the Bill should be considered by the provinces and in the NCOP, and how a Bill must be considered by the provincial legislatures depends on whether it affects the provinces. The more it affects the interests, concerns and capacities of the provinces, the more say the provinces should have on its content. . . .

[71] On the other hand, the “substantial measure” test permits a consideration of the provisions of the Bill and their impact on matters that substantially affect the provinces. This test ensures that legislation that affects the provinces will be enacted in accordance with a procedure that allows the provinces to fully and effectively play their role in the law-making process. This test must therefore be endorsed.

[72] To summarise: any Bill whose provisions substantially affect the interests of the provinces must be enacted in accordance with the procedure stipulated in section 76. Whether a Bill is a section 76 Bill is determined in two ways. First, by the explicit list of legislative matters in section 76(3)(a)–(f), and second by whether the provisions of a Bill in substantial measure fall within a concurrent provincial legislative competence.”. - 6.3 As stated above, a Bill, the provisions of which in substantial measure fall within a functional area listed in Schedule 4 to the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, 1996 (“Constitution”), must be classified as a section 76 Bill. In order to test whether the provisions of a Bill fall within a functional area listed in Schedule 4, the cumulative effect of all the provisions of the Bill must be taken into account in order to determine its impact on the provinces.
- 6.4 The Bill proposes amendments to a number of statutes and is intended to address practical and technical issues. The Department and State Law Advisers are of the view that the subject matter of the Bill does not fall within any of the functional areas listed in Schedule 4 to the Constitution. In view of the above discussion, the State Law Advisers and the Department are of the opinion that the Bill must be dealt with in terms of section 75 of the Constitution since it contains no provision to which the procedure set out in section 74 or 76 of the Constitution applies.
- 6.5 The State Law Advisers are of the opinion that it is not necessary to refer the Bill to the National House of Traditional and Khoi-San Leaders in terms of section 39(1)(a)(i) of the Traditional and Khoi-San Leadership Act, 2019 (Act No. 3 of 2019), since the Bill does not contain any provisions which directly affect customary law or the customs of traditional or Khoi-San communities.
