IN TROUBLE OVER BEQUINS, WHO

Pastor in the pink

Washington — A US pastor who made a brief television appearance in drag, wearing a huge pink wig and sequined bodysuit, has been removed from his ministry, a local church official in Indiana said this week.

Wearing high-heeled thigh boots, lipstick and purple eyeshadow and with a red tiffy around his neck, Craig Duke, 66, made a big splash on the HBO show Who's Your Favorite? A Local Church Official in Indiana said this week.

The Methodist minister described the appearance as "an incredibly wonderful, refreshing, deepening, powerful spiritual experience". In an interview with the Religion News Service.

But he quickly found himself in hot water with his flock.

Having received numerous calls and e-mails that were highly critical of Duke's actions, Mitch Greenman, the district superintendent of the church in Evansville, Indiana, said he had decided to relieve Duke of pastoral duties and "significantly reduced" his salary.

But Greenman said he had not been fired and he remained a pastor. — AFP
